(2.) Any contribution under the last preceding sub-section may be paid in one sum or by instalments as prescribed, and payment thereof, together with interest, shall be made or completed within five years from the date the officer elects to contribute in accordance with that sub-section and before the retirement of the officer.

(3.) (4.) If an officer, who has made an election under sub-section (1.) of this section, dies before completing the payment of the contribution elected to be paid by him, such instalments and interest as have been paid on account shall be refunded to his legal personal representative.

17.—(1.) Where the service of an officer appointed to the Service under the Public Service Ordinance has, immediately prior to such appointment, been preceded by an unbroken period of service coming within either of the exceptions specified in paragraphs (b) and (c) of the definition of “Officer” in section five of this Ordinance, the officer may, within six months after the commencement of this Ordinance, or, where the officer is appointed to the Service after that commencement, within twelve months after the date of his appointment, by notice in writing to the Administrator, elect to contribute in accordance with this section, an amount equal to Five pounds per centum of the total salary, wages or remuneration received by him during the whole or a portion of that unbroken period of service, together with interest, at the rate of Five pounds per centum per annum on the amount of that contribution, from the commencement of the Ordinance, or the date of his appointment to the Service, whichever is the later:

Provided that, where the whole or any portion of the period of service in respect of which the officer elects to contribute is after the first day of March, One thousand nine hundred and thirty-six, the rate of interest shall be Three pounds ten shillings per centum per annum on the amount of the contribution in respect of that period:

Provided further that where the officer elects to contribute in respect of a portion only of the unbroken period of service, that portion shall be the period immediately preceding the commencement of this Ordinance, or the date of the appointment of the officer to the Service, as the case may be.

(2.) Any contribution under the last preceding sub-section may be paid in one sum or by instalments as prescribed, and payment thereof, together with interest, shall be made or completed within five years from the commencement of this Ordinance or from the date the officer made an election under the last preceding sub-section, as the case may be, and before his retirement from the Service.

(3.) Any officer who has made an election under sub-section (1.) of this section and has, within the period specified in the last preceding sub-section, paid or completed the payment with interest of the contribution in respect of the unbroken period of service or portion thereof shall, upon retirement, be entitled to have that period or portion thereof, taken into account in computing the amount of allowance payable to him under this Ordinance.

(4.) If an officer who has made an election under sub-section (1.) of this section dies before completing the payment of the contribution elected to be paid by him, such instalments and interest as have been paid on account shall be refunded to his legal personal representative.

(3) See Section 13 of the Superannuation Ordinance 1936, printed on p. 4288.
17A.—(1.) If a member of the European Constabulary under the Police Force Ordinance desires to have the whole or any portion of his service in the Police Force under the Police Force Ordinance 1922-1927 which is continuous with service in the European Constabulary, taken into account in the computation of his superannuation allowance, he may, before the first day of July, One thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven, by notice in writing to the Administrator, elect to contribute, in accordance with this section, an amount equal to Five pounds per centum of the total salary received by him during the period of service in the Police Force under the Police Force Ordinance 1922-1927 to be so taken into account, together with interest at the rate of Five pounds per centum per annum on the amount of that contribution from the commencement of the Police Force Ordinance until the date of payment of the contribution:

Provided that, where the member elects to contribute in respect of a portion only of his service in the Police Force under the Police Force Ordinance 1922-1927, that portion shall be the period immediately preceding his appointment to the European Constabulary.

(2.) Any contribution under the last preceding sub-section may be paid in one sum or by instalments as prescribed, and payment thereof, together with interest, shall be made or completed within five years from the date the member made an election under the last preceding sub-section, and before his retirement from the Service.

(3.) Any member who has made an election under sub-section (1.) of this section and has, within the period specified in the last preceding sub-section, paid or completed the payment with interest of the contribution in respect of the period of his service in the Police Force under the Police Force Ordinance 1922-1927 shall, upon retirement, be entitled to have that period taken into account in computing the amount of allowance payable to him under this Ordinance.

(4.) If a member who has made an election under sub-section (1.) of this section dies before completing the payment of the contribution elected to be paid by him, such instalments and interest as have been paid on account shall be refunded to his legal personal representative.

17B. Where an officer is granted leave of absence in pursuance of section thirty-three A of the Public Service Ordinance or section twenty-two A of the Police Force Ordinance, the period of the leave of absence so granted shall not be taken into account in computing the period of five years prescribed in sections sixteen, seventeen, and seventeen A of this Ordinance.
18. On the death of an officer, superannuation allowance shall be payable to his widow as follows:—

(a) during her own life at the rate of one-half of the superannuation allowance to which the officer would have been entitled had he retired immediately prior to his death or at the rate of one-half of the superannuation allowance to which the officer would have been entitled had he continued in the Service without further increase of salary until he reached the age for retirement, whichever is the higher rate:

Provided that if she remarries her allowance shall thereupon cease and determine; and

(b) in respect of each of her or the officer's children (except children of her remarriage) who are under the age of sixteen years, a pension at the rate of Thirteen pounds per annum until the child attains the age of sixteen years.

19. On the death of a pensioner, superannuation allowance shall be paid to his widow as follows:—

(a) during her own life at the rate of one-half of the superannuation allowance payable to the pensioner at the time of his death:

Provided that if she remarries her allowance shall thereupon cease and determine; and

(b) in respect of each of her or the officer's children (except children of her remarriage) who are under the age of sixteen years, a pension at the rate of Twenty-six(3) pounds per annum until the child attains the age of sixteen years:

Provided that where a pensioner marries after ceasing to be an officer of the Service superannuation allowance shall not, upon the death of the pensioner, be payable to his widow.

20. On the death of an officer or a pensioner whose wife is dead or divorced, and who leaves children of himself or of his wife who are under the age of sixteen years and who were dependent upon him at the time of his death, and on the death of a widow who was entitled to receive pension under either of the last two preceding sections in respect of children, there shall be paid to the guardian of the children, to be used for their support and education, a pension at the rate of Fifty-two(3) pounds per annum in respect of each child until the child attains the age of sixteen years.

(3) See Section 13 of the Superannuation Ordinance 1936, printed on p. 4288.
21.—(1.) If, in the opinion of the Administrator, the health of any retired officer to whom superannuation allowance is being paid under sub-section (2.) of section fourteen of this Ordinance has become so restored as to enable him to perform his duties, the Administrator may cause suitable employment to be found for the officer.

(2.) If suitable employment is offered to him, whether in the Public Service of the Territory or in that of the Commonwealth; or, in the case of a member of the European Constabulary under the Police Force Ordinance, in the European Constabulary, at a salary not less than two-thirds of his salary at the time of his retirement, or at such salary as is agreed upon between him and the Administrator, the Administrator may cancel the superannuation allowance and thereupon it shall cease to be payable.

(3.) In the event of the recurrence of his infirmity, any officer who has been re-employed in the Service shall be entitled to superannuation allowance at a rate not less than the amount of the pension on which he was first retired.

22. If any officer dies while in the Service leaving no widow or child to whom superannuation allowance is payable, all contributions made by him under this Ordinance shall be repaid to his legal personal representative without interest.

23.—(1.) Any officer who retires voluntarily from the Service, and is not entitled to superannuation allowance, shall be entitled to a refund of contributions without interest.

(2.) An officer who is compulsorily retired from the Service shall, if he is not entitled to superannuation allowance, be entitled to a sum equal to twice the amount of contributions paid without interest.(3)

24. An officer dismissed from the Service shall be entitled to a refund of contributions without interest unless he has been dismissed for the offence of embezzlement, or unless the Administrator directs that, on account of the serious nature of the offence, no refund shall be paid.

PART V.—GENERAL.

25. Superannuation allowances granted under this Ordinance shall not be in any way assigned, transferred, charged or passed by operation of law to any person other than the pensioner and shall not be liable to be attached, sequestrated or levied upon for or in respect of any debt or claim whatsoever.

(3) See Section 13 of the Superannuation Ordinance 1936, printed on p. 4288.

26.—(1.) Where a pensioner is sentenced to imprisonment for any period exceeding one month, superannuation allowance shall not be payable during the period of his imprisonment:

Provided that the Administrator may direct that, during the period of imprisonment, the whole or any part of the pension shall be paid to the wife of the pensioner, or, where the pensioner is a widower with children dependent upon him, to such person, for the benefit of the children, as the Administrator determines.

(2.) Where a pensioner is detained as a patient in a hospital for the insane, the Administrator may direct that his superannuation allowance or any part thereof shall be paid during the period of detention to his wife, or, where the pensioner is a widower with children dependent upon him, to such person, for the benefit of the children, as the Administrator determines.

27.—(1.) Subject to this section, no service shall be taken into account in the computation of superannuation allowance if that service is not continuous to the date of the retirement of the officer.

(2.) The period during which an officer is absent on leave without pay (other than leave through illness or leave of absence granted in pursuance of section thirty-three A of the Public Service Ordinance or section twenty-two A of the Police Force Ordinance or, in the case of the Administrator or a Judge, leave of absence granted by the Governor-General for defence purposes) shall not be counted in computing his superannuation allowance, but such absence shall not be deemed to affect the continuity of his service:

Provided always that the Administrator may specially order in any case that a period of absence on leave without pay shall be counted in computing superannuation allowance and the order may be subject to such conditions as to the payment of contributions and otherwise as the Administrator specifies, and may apply to a period of absence on leave without pay which expired before the passing of this Ordinance.

(3.) Except as otherwise prescribed, where a period of absence on leave without pay is taken into account in computing superannuation allowance, the officer shall, for the purpose of the computation, be deemed to have received salary during that period at the rate in force immediately prior to the commencement of the leave.

27A.—(1.) Where an officer, who has been granted leave of absence on full pay, retires or is retired from the Service prior to the expiration of the period for which leave was granted, and has been paid an amount of salary in full for the residue of that period, he shall not be entitled to superannuation allowance in accordance with this Ordinance until the day immediately following the date of expiration of that period.

(2.) The contributions of the officer to the Superannuation Fund shall not cease until the date of expiration of the period for which leave was granted, and, for the purpose of computing the superannuation allowance payable to the officer, the period from the date of his retirement to and including the date of expiration of the period for which leave was granted shall be reckoned as part of his service and shall be taken into account accordingly.

27B.—(1.) Notwithstanding anything contained elsewhere in this Ordinance, where an officer is transferred to an office in the Commonwealth Service in pursuance of section forty-three of the Commonwealth Public Service Act 1922-1937, subject to any conditions determined by the Governor-General in pursuance of that section—

(a) the officer shall, during the period of his transfer, at such times and in such manner as the Governor-General directs, contribute to the Superannuation Fund in accordance with this Ordinance;

(b) the period of the officer’s transfer shall be reckoned as part of his service and taken into account in computing the superannuation allowance payable to him under this Ordinance; and

(c) for the purposes of computing the superannuation allowance payable to the officer and determining the rate of contribution payable by him, he shall be deemed to have received, during the period of his transfer, salary at the rate which he was receiving at the date immediately prior to the date of his transfer to the Commonwealth Service.

(2.) This section shall be deemed to have commenced on the first day of September, One thousand nine hundred and thirty-eight.

28.—(1.) The Administrator shall cause to be published in the New Guinea Gazette, not later than the thirtieth day of September in each year, a complete statement of the receipts and expenditure of the Superannuation Fund during the year ended the thirtieth day of June last preceding.

(2.) A copy of the statement, together with a report dealing with the general administration and working of the Ordinance, shall be submitted by the Administrator to the Minister.\(^{(9)}\)

29. The Minister\(^{(9)}\) may make regulations,\(^{(10)}\) not inconsistent with this Ordinance, prescribing all matters which, by this Ordinance, are required or permitted to be prescribed, or which are necessary or convenient to be prescribed for carrying out or giving effect to this Ordinance.

\(^{(9)}\) Section 4 of the Ordinances Interpretation Ordinance 1934-1941 provides that in any Ordinance "unless the contrary intention appears—'Minister' means the Minister of State for the time being administering the New Guinea Act 1920-1932."
